

STORM DAMAGE FEARED HIGH IN CANYON SUMMER HOMES DISTRICT

DAM CRUMBLES AT ALTURAS

Entire Coast Lashed By Winds And Rain; Rail And Highway Traffic Halted

ALTURAS, (AP)—Battered by a torrential 48-hour downpour, the Pine Creek reservoir dam, a quarter mile above Alturas, burst today sending several million gallons of water down to the city.

Business streets were turned into raging torrents, buildings were undermined and residences were washed out.

No casualties were reported. Fearing the dam might not hold, the city's 3,000 inhabitants had moved to high ground.

Water covered 15 acres of the town. In some places it was 15 feet deep. Average depth, however, was three feet.

"WORST IN MEMORY"

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A storm which the Weather Bureau termed "the worst in memory" beat the entire Pacific Coast from the Mexican border to the Aleutian Islands today, centering on northern California.

Greatest danger spot of the moment was Alturas.

Another danger spot was Gilroy where five blocks were inundated when a levee on the river, west of the town, broke early today. All north and south bound traffic was interrupted. Fire alarms and "town criers" called citizens out of their beds to erect sand bag barriers around stores and homes.

Other critical spots were Downieville, Oroville, Healdsburg and Ukiah, (Continued on Page 4)

Blizzards Lash Europe Coast

32 Killed, 57 Injured In Glasgow Rail Wreck; 500 Rescued From Liner Hoover

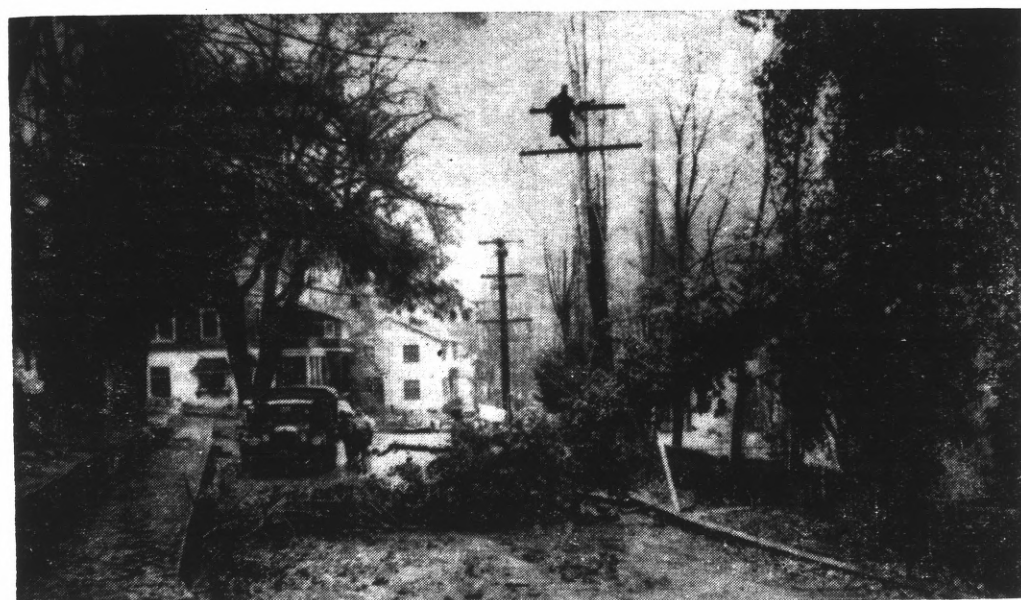

GLASGOW, Scotland, (AP)—Crews worked in a bitter blizzard and six inches of snow to extricate remaining bodies from the wreckage of an Edinburgh to Glasgow express train which ploughed into a stationary passenger train at Castlegary last night, killing at least 32 persons.

At least 57 were injured.

Deaths and accidents on land and sea mounted as fierce storms continued in the north and south of Britain. Besides casualties from blizzards along the icebound, snow-blocked highways of the north, gales took toll in the channel.

500 RESCUED

MANTLA, (AP)—All 500 passengers of the liner President Hoover, fast aground on a sunken reef off the coast of Formosa, have been safely landed on Hoishoto Island, one of the Formosa group, radio reports from the scene said today.

HOWLING WINDS WHICH ACCOMPANIED THE RAINS of Saturday night blew down this tree standing on the property of the Jones estate, on Bedford Avenue, early Saturday morning. The tree barely missed a car parked nearby, and broke power lines, adding just one more worry to the troubles of P. G. & E. Co. linemen. Democrat photo

FOREST STAFF HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Entertainment, Dancing Mark Social Evening Friday At Shakespeare Club House

The employees of the Forest Service in El Dorado County held their annual Christmas Party Friday night at the Shakespeare Club house with a total attendance one hundred forty employees of Eldorado National Forest and of the Institute of Forest Genetics, a branch of the California Forest and Range Experiment station at Berkeley.

Ranger George B. Young, of Lumberville district, was general chairman of the evening and was assisted by a number of co-workers including Mrs. Jessie Stevens as refreshment chairman, and C. A. Barker as master of ceremonies for the entertainment.

The evening opened with entertainment numbers, followed by dancing. At a late hour a buffet luncheon was served.

Entertainment included three playlets, one by the staff of the Institute of Forest Genetics, another by the Forest Service foremen of Mosquito CCC camp, and a third by the forest fire guards. Several individual numbers were given, including an accordion solo by Ed Balderston; quartet selections by members of the Placerville office and warehouse staff; a tap dance by Mildred Morris; and a vocal solo by Diana Barker. Several reels of pictures on wild life in the National Forests also were shown.

In the absence of Santa Claus, whose arrival was delayed by the storm, Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith officiated as master of ceremonies at a gaily decorated Christmas tree, which was laden with gifts for the little folk.

As this feature of the program neared its conclusion, Santa Claus was able to get to Placerville and passed over the clubhouse in his sleigh, dropping a package for Mr. Smith.

In other words, Santa "handed him a package."

Charles MacLaughlin was in town Saturday from Somerset.

Cold Wave Deaths Total 110

Frigid Temperatures May Moderate For Weekend; New Blast In Northland

By UNITED PRESS

Extreme cold and heavy snows in the east caused new hardships and suffering today.

At Buffalo, Red Cross workers aided city and suburban dwellers virtually marooned by one of the heaviest snowstorms for the area in a decade. From the northwest, down through the central states to the south, freezing temperatures continued unabated.

U. S. Forecaster C. A. Donnel said that the cold and snow which has caused 110 deaths may moderate in the north central states over the weekend. However, a great mass of polar air hovered over the McKenzie river basin and probably will advance over the United States early next week, he said.

Five persons were dead in the Buffalo area. Thirty inches of snow, driven by gale-like winds, fell there in three days.

RESCUE FARM CENTER HEARS TALK ON BANKING

The regular meeting of the Rescue Farm Center was held Friday night and had as the guest speaker E. Ogden Hook, of the Placerville branch of the Bank of America, who discussed banking law.

Farm Advisor Ivan Lilley discussed farm problems of the community and a report was made by Vinton Veerkamp, county 4-H Club council chairman, on his attendance at the club leader's conference held December 4 and 5 at Adams Springs, Lake County.

The inclement weather of the evening was blamed for the absence of a number of center members.

UNION DISTRICT FORMS NEW 4-H CLUB FOR COUNTY

Organization of a new 4-H club in the county is reported from Union district by Donald Gray, reporter, following a meeting on December 6 at the home of their adult leader, Mrs. Bohne.

The club elected Charles Simpson, president, Roberta Melchior, treasurer and Robert Bohne, secretary.

Donald Gray reports that there is a cabin in the vicinity which the club may gain the use of and that they have plans to condition the building to serve as a clubhouse.

Norman Robotham, returning Saturday from San Francisco, reports rail traffic between the capital and the bay blocked. He came by boat.

SNOWLINE FROLICS AS STORM HOWLS

Farewell Banquet Held Friday Night At Camp Preparatory To Transfer Next Weekend

Company 999 of the CCC, stationed at Camp Snowline, has earned a reputation for being "tops" in everything. They've won baseball championships and basketball championships and last summer won an award for being the model camp in the Northern California district.

Perhaps it was something of the same "stuff" which made them "tops" that enabled them to have a whooping big time Friday night at their farewell banquet while the rain poured down and the wind howled outside.

Company 999 will be transferred next week-end, and the latest word just before the banquet was that the company would go to Camp Grass Valley.

And so, for the "old grads" and invited friends from the county seat, the company gave a farewell banquet Friday night with a chicken dinner which started off with Waldorf Salad Supreme and finished up with nuts to you and cigarettes for me.

There were three divisions of the doings of the evening which combined to make it a success. Captain Don M. Hoffman, commanding, had invited District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, Sheriff George M. Smith, Banker Guy E. Wentworth, Publisher C. E. Barker, Chief of Police James Morton, Restaurant H. J. Lindberg and others to speak.

Mess officer Jack Goddard and his staff, supported by a number of the enrollees doing special kitchen duty, had spent the day decorating the mess hall and preparing the dinner.

And Lloyd Vye, camp educational advisor, had arranged a group of entertainment numbers supplied by the camp's talent.

Captain Hoffman presided and Mr. Vye called on Herbert Belcher for a series of songs, with his own guitar accompaniment; Thomas Flannery, crooner, who sang without accompaniment; Raymond Perez, who gave some of his bird call imitations; and Albert Rico, cheer leader, who led the company in a closing yell.

The captain called upon Mr. Wentworth, who assured the members of the camp of the public interest in their activities, and of the pride which business men take in CCC enrollees who enter private employment and make good.

Sheriff Smith complimented the members of the camp upon their excellent record and praised them for their deportment. The sheriff said he is genuinely sorry to see the camp transferred and hopes that when the time comes that they will be transferred to a new camp.

ECHO SUMMIT CLOSED; FLOOD PERILS INTAKE DAM

Power Company Employees Declare River Higher Than In 1928; Mother Lode Highway Blocked At Lotus As Water Swirls Near Town; Light Bridges Swept Out

At 2:30 Saturday afternoon P. G. & E. officials reported the water was dropping at the intake dam and said continued fall of the river would remove danger of losing the dam.

About the same hour reports from Coloma said Mr. and Mrs. William Griswold had been forced from their home by high water. Mrs. E. De Lory said conditions were the worst she had seen since 1891. Highway workmen said the river at this point was rising at the rate of a foot every ninety minutes.

Water was reported as much as five feet deep between Coloma and the Lotus bridge. W. L. Spooner was taking emergency measures to reinforce his house and the B. F. Chalmers residence was entirely surrounded by water.

Mrs. Sonora Timmons was in town from Pacific House early Saturday afternoon. She reported "every bridge above River-ton except the bridge at Whitehall and the China Flat bridge at Kyburz" is out. Water is within three feet of the highway at River-ton and the river is up to within four inches of the sills of low windows at the Evans place at Whitehall.

At 11 o'clock this morning, she said, six feet of water was going over the intake dam near Kyburz.

The storm which opened Thursday, continued through Friday night and Saturday morning, leaving 5.54 inches of rainfall in Placerville and vicinity since the opening of the down-pour and raising the south fork of the American River to levels which it had not been known to reach since 1928.

While damage throughout the county was apparently nominal, reports Saturday morning indicated a probable heavy loss in the American River Canyon summer homes area and it was said that every small bridge above River-ton had been swept away.

High water was described in the Whitehall district and it was said that "the little white house by the road just this side of the Three F ranch" had been swept twenty feet downstream.

Two hundred fifty feet of highway was washed out at Sayles Flat, near Camp Sacramento, according to Ed Willis, State division of highways maintenance superintendent. This, it was said, will definitely close the road over the summit for the winter.

It was also reported that a bridge is out over the Little Truckee river at the foot of Meyers Grade.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company officials were apprehensive for the Saturday night.

State Closes U. S. 50

Sight-Seers Barred From Canyon Area; Short-Wave Radio Aids Road Patrol

The American River canyon is closed to sight-seers and no one will be permitted up the road unless on Forest Service or power company business unless he is the owner of a summer home.

This order was issued shortly after noon Saturday by Captain E. A. Brewster, of the state highway patrol, who said he hoped it would be the means of preventing disappointment for sight-seeing parties on Sunday.

"The storm has created an emergency condition where traffic other than that which is necessary will be hazardous," the captain said.

Brewster said the state Division of Highways has closed the road at River-ton and that Sunday the barrier probably will be moved to the 14-mile stone.

During the storm of Saturday, when the telephone company had but one trunk line to Sacramento, Brewster was able to communicate with the state highway patrol radio station at Sacramento and receive and report the latest storm information over Charles Malone's shortwave radio station.

Malone some months ago offered the highway patrol the use of the station in any emergency.

Hulbert Horn, state bridge engineer, has been asked to check bridges on state highways in this vicinity for storm damage.

WEATHER

Occasional rain tonight, Sunday; snow higher, colder; high 56; low, 54; Precipitation 2.36 inches.

NO BREAK SEEN BY WEATHER MAN

"Conditions Might Improve By Tomorrow," Says San Francisco Forecaster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Weather Bureau said today "no definite break was expected yet on the storm although conditions might improve some by tomorrow."

"We expect less rain and wind and possibly a little sunshine by late tomorrow," the bureau announced. "The storm will continue today with intermittent rains and wind. Rain should not be as hard as during the night."

"The storm extends from Southern California to Alaska. It started in the Pacific Ocean and is moving northward. Storm warnings continued all along the coast."

"Rains are general over the whole far west. It should be a little cooler from now on but no real cold spell is in sight."

COUGARS TAKE TWO IN TILT WITH FOLSOM ON FRIDAY

While the C team lost, 12 to 8, the A and B. Cougar fives won Friday night in a three-game tilt with the Folsom high school on the local court.

The C score at half time was 2 for the Cougars and 3 for Folsom.

Cribbs and Del Carlo led the Cougar Bees to a 21 to 11 win while the A team game was a thriller with the Cougars winning 32 to 25. The half-time score was 14 to 20 for Folsom, but the Cougars took 17 points in the second half and Folsom got but five. MacLin, with 13, Schroth with 11 and Cougars while Kipp grabbed sixteen of the Folsom counters.

Thus endeth the Cougar basketball games until January 7, when San Juan comes here.

Rebekah Officer's Name Omitted

In our report of the recent election in Leona Rebekah lodge No. 30, we omitted the name of the warder-elect, Mrs. Enid Mart.

While our error in no wise influences her election and installation, we none the less make this correction to clear the record.

Mrs. Sonora Timmons was in town Saturday from Pacific.

Snowline Has Farewell

ferred from Grass Valley, the Nevada County people will be as sorry to see them leave as we are to see them leave El Dorado County.

Mr. Lyon pointed out that it has never been necessary in this county in the history of the OCC to bring capital charges against any OCC enrollee. He said this is a remarkable record when one considers the large number of men brought together in the camps.

He urged the camp members to an interest in citizenship and pointed out to them that in a few years they will be called upon to take over the responsibilities of government which now rest in other hands, and that they owe it to the Nation to be prepared for that responsibility and to generations to come to preserve and pass on the principles of American government.

Mr. Morton commended the members of the camp for their excellent deportment and wished them godspeed as did Mr. Barker.

The captain also called upon Captain A. W. McPherson, medical officer, who assured the boys he would see more of them, and Chaplain Earl Du Laney, who led in community singing and who, later in the evening, gave an inspirational talk which all appreciated.

Special honors were extended during the evening by the enrolled men of the camp to Captain Hoffman, to whom they presented a small saber, symbolic of his military command of the camp; to Senior Work Foreman Raymond Luke, to whom they presented a whistle which he will use in his camp duties; and to Mess Officer Goddard, whom the camp applauded for the excellent dinner.

The mess officer responded with a short talk complimenting the members of his staff. He said he had fed all types of men during his life, business men, laborers and lumberers, but that there was one thing that intrigued him after six months in Camp Snowline:

"I can't for the life of me figure out where you put all of the food that we cook."

There were about thirty-five members and guests on hand to greet the five remaining pioneers, who honor this event with their presence each year. The dinner was held in the banquet room of the I. O. O. F. hall and the tables were decorated with the colors of the orders. The following program was given: Georgia Gardner, on behalf of El Dorado Parlor and Charles Irish on behalf of Georgetown Parlor, gave welcome addresses; a song of greeting by Nettie Leonardi, Georgia Gardner, Ethel Breedlove and Elizabeth Murdock, also a song "To The Pioneer Mother" by the same group. Victor Leonardi, president of Placerville Parlor spoke on early California history and the part played by the pioneers of that day; a duet was contributed by Ethel Breedlove and Elizabeth Murdock; and a solo by Nettie Leonardi. There were brief remarks by each of the pioneers. Mr. Peter Morgan, who has been quite ill the past few months, was able to be present and sing his "Pioneer Song of Greeting" as usual this year, which was deeply appreciated. Altogether it was a most enjoyable occasion. The weather man seemed to be in on it too, as the day was a perfect one. The pioneers present were Dora Crawford, Georgia Knox, Ed Stanton, Peter Morgan and Ira Cushman.

TEAMWORK URGED IN MAKING LIST OF CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Dependable standbys — shirts, socks, neckties, mufflers, gloves. Every man is glad to get a supply of these things he needs and wears with pride.

But remember this when you are buying:

Even if the gift is for someone you are merely doing your duty by—Aunt Emma's great uncle or Grandma Jones' brother—give a little thought, a little consideration to color, style, adaptability of the gift to his present wardrobe.

Then the gifts left for him under the Christmas tree will not be orphaned, but will be related in color, style, and material.

The best shops are showing related gifts these days, are planning in advance for certain items to be worn together. Try this year harmonizing the gifts you and your friends are giving. It's a little bit of thoughtfulness anyone will appreciate.

MISSOURI BARS NEGROES FROM STATE'S UNIVERSITY

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., (U)—An opinion from the state supreme court today closed the doors of the University of Missouri to Negroes.

In a unanimous decision, the high tribunal upheld circuit judge W. M. Dinwiddie of Boone County circuit court in his refusal to grant Lloyd L. Gaines, St. Louis Negro, a writ of mandamus forcing university officials to admit him to the school of law.

Judge William F. Frank held that the statutes provided equal higher educational facilities for negroes through the act creating Lincoln University and the appropriation to pay tuition fees for Negro students in adjacent schools if Lincoln does provide the courses they want.

ety of the intake dam at the thirty-two mile stone, which supplies Placerville with domestic water, and also supplies the El Dorado Power house. At nine o'clock Saturday morning a total fall of 3.30 inches at the intake had been recorded since 5 o'clock Friday morning.

Water was one-inch deep on the floor of the El Dorado Power house at the 14-mile forebay at ten o'clock Saturday morning and then receded. Shortly afterward, the possibility that the El Dorado Power house and also the American River power house at Rock Creek might be put out of commission by the rising water gave the P. G. & E. staff cause for concern.

The Mother Lode highway was closed at Lotus and water was flooding around the bridge and was reported about 11 o'clock to be running into the well at Mrs. Lottie Galleher's grocery store. Later reports which were not confirmed said the water was within ten feet of the store.

The Pacific Minerals plant at Chile Bar was flooded by high water and a rumor which said the bridge over the river at this point was out brought a definite denial from Ed Willis, highway maintenance foreman. It was said traffic between Placerville and Georgetown was being swelled by additional traffic from Auburn, which was being detoured around Lotus.

Willis said the road to Plymouth was open and the bridge at Nashville was in good shape.

In Placerville, the storm Friday night was accompanied by high winds but the only damage reported up until noon was the felling of a tree at the old Jones residence on Bedford Avenue. The tree fell across power lines and was said to have barely missed an automobile.

Rainfall record for the 24 hours ending Friday at 5 o'clock was 2.80 inches and from five o'clock Friday until seven o'clock Saturday morning the fall was exactly two inches. An additional .36 of an inch fell from seven o'clock Saturday morning until 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning raising the total since five o'clock Friday to 2.36 inches.

all in California. They were isolated so far as traffic was concerned and Downieville was unable to communicate with the outside world.

RIVER RISES RAPIDLY

SACRAMENTO (UP) — Plans to open flood gates and relieve the swollen Sacramento River by diverting water into protecting by-passes north of here were under way today as the stream rose rapidly toward flood stage.

At 7 a. m., the river gauge stood at 20.9 feet and weather bureau officials reported this figure was being advanced at the rate of more than one foot an hour. Rainfall here during the last 24 hours amounted to 1.93 inches.

The Western Pacific Railroad's main line through the Feather River Canyon was blocked at several points by slides. Traffic also was halted over the transcontinental highway U. S. 40 because of slides near Donner summit. Pacific highway, U. S. 99, was blocked at Redding.

Rivers throughout Northern California were rising rapidly and neared the flood stage at many points. The American already had passed the 19-foot mark at Folsom and was expected to reach 26 feet here today.

Reports from Red Bluff said the Sacramento River was over 20 feet and still rising, while at Kennett the stream was reported three feet over flood stage at 26 feet.

L. R. Hart will be manager of the Sebastopol Apple Growers Union, again next year.

New Shoes Give Winged Effect This Season

Winged effects in women's footwear supply the style news in the shoe picture for morning, noon and night models.

Moulded, glove fittings shoes which have a new height over the instep and many tongue like effects giving a winged appearance to the foot are the smart new trends.

Leading the field is the pump, dignified with a new beauty by a variety of trimmings in grosgrain, braid, satin, and kidskin on the holiday season's most popular shoe leather, suede.

Black leads the color parade in the suede, kid, gabardine, and patent leather for street wear while close behind are coffee brown, oak brown, forest green, red cedar, navy, mahogany, winish reds and gray.

High front steps give a snug look to the foot, and many of these instep effects have two way stretch fabric woven into the sides of the shoes. Fine pipings, sleek appliques, and intricate designs emphasize the new high riding silhouette.

There will be an increase in potato plantings in the Edison-Arvin section, Kern County, with other districts about the same as last spring.

BRITAIN'S PRINCESS ELIZABETH, QUEEN-TO-BE, RECEIVES NO PIN MONEY, BUT WILL GET GRANT OF $30,000 ANNUALLY ON REACHING AGE OF 21

By HARRY PERCY

United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (Copyright 1937 by United Press) — Princess Elizabeth may be Britain's future Queen, but she receives no pocket money.

If she wants a sixpence for the church plate she must ask her nurse. Otherwise all purchases are charged to the palace account.

When she is 21 the government will give her an allowance of $30,000—but that is 10 years away.

Now she must observe as strict a school routine as any other sixth grader. Just because she learns her lessons at home does not mean she can play hooky when she likes.

Only rarely has her mother permitted some official function to interfere with the daily time table. It is arranged with great care and takes in every minute of the day from the time Elizabeth rises at 7:30 a. m. until she goes to bed at 7:30 p. m.

Although one day Elizabeth will have to rule a man's world, her life at present is guided entirely by women. Five women, her mother, Queen Elizabeth; her grandmother, Queen Mary; Lady Helen Gibbs; her nurse, "Arla" Knight and her governess Miss Joan Crawford, have helped mold her life.

Lady Helen, who is lady in waiting to the Queen, also is unofficial Lady-in-Waiting to Princess Elizabeth and her sister, Margaret, when they go visiting. Nurse Knight cares for their health and well being, keeping them on a strict diet, and the tall blonde good-looking governess, who the Princesses call "Ciggie," supervises the study.

The Princesses live on the third floor of Buckingham Palace in a suite of rooms overlooking Queen Victoria's statue at the front of the palace.

Their large nursery is furnished like any other nursery. It has a huge table, book shelves, toy cupboards and a high fender in front of the fire. The walls are papered with nursery rhyme pictures.

On either side of the nursery are the bedrooms. The bedroom of Elizabeth is paneled and has a white miniature bedroom suite of light oak with a silver enamel dressing table which was the gift of Queen Mary. This is one of Elizabeth's most treasured possessions.

Another adjoining room serves as the school room. It is plainly furnished with wall maps, blackboards, a teacher's desk, two small tables and chairs and a piano. The room is large enough for weekly dancing lessons and romps with friends.

French probably is Elizabeth's best subject. She gets her ability for languages from her mother. She loves to air her knowledge and usually addresses her parents in French.

A certificate filed Saturday with the county recorded tells of the marriage Friday of Glen George Pearson, 47, and Pearl May Volz, 45, before the Rev. Harold Morehouse.
